

A Note From Erin Hill

To our Contributors, Collaborators, and Stakeholders,

After 25 years of serving the mission, I have decided to step down as President. I am enormously proud of the IIVS team and their commitment to providing high-quality testing solutions for industry while expanding the acceptance of new approach methodologies (NAMs) internationally.

I would like to thank all of you for placing your trust in IIVS for the testing of your products and for demonstrating your commitment to non-animal approaches through your support and collaboration. I plan to stay closely involved with the advancement of NAMs as my passion for this field continues.

Please join me in congratulating Amanda Ulrey and Kristie Sullivan on their new roles as they work with Hans Raabe, Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer, and the rest of the IIVS team to further the IIVS mission of advancing the use and acceptance of non-animal approaches worldwide.

Most sincerely,
Erin

Incoming President, Amanda K. Ulrey

As we start 2023, I am honored to continue my work at IIVS as president and a member of the board of directors.

I joined IIVS 20 years ago when we were the size that marketing and communications, client services, and quality assurance could all be handled by one person. I have been privileged to increase my responsibilities as IIVS has grown and expanded our programs and I am excited to use my skills and institutional knowledge to lead us into the future.

IIVS has always been recognized as a trusted partner for providing testing services and training to our clients and collaborators.

We advocate for relevant and reliable NAMs globally and maintain our focus on quality in all that we do. I look forward to doing my part to continue the work of IIVS staff toward advancing science and animal welfare together.

IIVS Welcomes Kristie Sullivan!

Kristie will be joining IIVS as Vice President, Education and Outreach.

I am thrilled to join the IIVS team. I look forward to working with the team's expert scientists and committed supporters to advance the use of New Approach Methods by providing education and support to the toxicology community.
